243. O. WATER INTRUSION AND MOLD GROWTH: Recent studies have shown that various forms of water intrusion
244. affect many homes. Water intrusion may occur from exterior moisture entering the home and/or interior moisture
245. leaving the home.

246. Examples of exterior moisture sources may be

- 247. • improper flashing around windows and doors,
- 248. • improper grading,
- 249. • flooding,
- 250. • roof leaks.

251. Examples of interior moisture sources may be

- 252. • plumbing leaks,
- 253. • condensation (caused by indoor humidity that is too high or surfaces that are too cold),
- 254. • overflow from tubs, sinks or toilets,
- 255. • firewood stored indoors,
- 256. • humidifier use,
- 257. • inadequate venting of kitchen and bath humidity,
- 258. • improper venting of clothes dryer exhaust outdoors (including electrical dryers),
- 259. • line-drying laundry indoors,
- 260. • houseplants—watering them can generate large amounts of moisture.

261. In addition to the possible structural damage water intrusion may do to the property, water intrusion may also result
262. in the growth of mold, mildew and other fungi. Mold growth may also cause structural damage to the property.
263. Therefore, it is very important to detect and remediate water intrusion problems.

264. Fungi are present everywhere in our environment, both indoors and outdoors. Many molds are beneficial to
265. humans. However, molds have the ability to produce mycotoxins that may have a potential to cause serious health
266. problems, particularly in some immunocompromised individuals and people who have asthma or allergies to 267. mold.

268. To complicate matters, mold growth is often difficult to detect, as it frequently grows within the wall structure. If you
269. have a concern about water intrusion or the resulting mold/mildew/fungi growth, you may want to consider having the
270. property inspected for moisture problems before entering into a purchase agreement or as a condition of your
271. purchase agreement. Such an analysis is particularly advisable if you observe staining or musty odors on the 272. property.

273. For additional information about water intrusion, indoor air quality, moisture or mold issues, go to the Minnesota
274. Association of REALTORS® web site at www.mnrealtor.com.

120. L. OTHER INFORMATION:

121. WATER INTRUSION AND MOLD GROWTH: Recent studies have shown that various forms of water intrusion
122. affect many homes. Water intrusion may occur from exterior moisture entering the home and/or interior moisture
123. leaving the home.

124. Examples of exterior moisture sources may be
125. • improper flashing around windows and doors,
126. • improper grading,
127. • flooding,
128. • roof leaks.

129. Examples of interior moisture sources may be
130. • plumbing leaks,
131. • condensation (caused by indoor humidity that is too high or surfaces that are too cold),
132. • overflow from tubs, sinks or toilets,
133. • firewood stored indoors,
134. • humidifier use,
135. • inadequate venting of kitchen and bath humidity,
136. • improper venting of clothes dryer exhaust outdoors (including electrical dryers),
137. • line-drying laundry indoors,
138. • houseplants—watering them can generate large amounts of moisture.

139. In addition to the possible structural damage water intrusion may do to the property, water intrusion may also result
140. in the growth of mold, mildew and other fungi. Mold growth may also cause structural damage to the property.
141. Therefore, it is very important to detect and remediate water intrusion problems.

142. Fungi are present everywhere in our environment, both indoors and outdoors. Many molds are beneficial to humans.
143. However, molds have the ability to produce mycotoxins that may have a potential to cause serious health problems,
144. particularly in some immunocompromised individuals and people who have asthma or allergies to mold.
145. To complicate matters, mold growth is often difficult to detect, as it frequently grows within the wall structure. If you
146. have a concern about water intrusion or the resulting mold/mildew/fungi growth, you may want to consider having
147. the property inspected for moisture problems before entering into a purchase agreement or as a condition of your
148. purchase agreement. Such an analysis is particularly advisable if you observe staining or any musty odors on the 149. property.

150. For additional information about water intrusion, indoor air quality, moisture or mold issues, go to the Minnesota
151. Association of REALTORS® web site at www.mnrealtor.com.

In the disclosure statement Seller must indicate, for each well, whether the well is in use, not in use or sealed.

9. Unless Buyer and Seller agree to the contrary in writing, before the closing of the sale, a Seller who fails to disclose the existence or known status of a well at the time of sale, and knew or had reason to know of the existence or known status of the well, is liable to Buyer for costs relating to sealing of the well and reasonable attorneys' fees for collection of costs from Seller, if the action is commenced within six years after the date Buyer closed the purchase of the real property where the well is located.

14. Legal requirements exist relating to various aspects of location and status of wells. Buyer is advised to contact the local unit(s) of government, state agency or qualified professional which regulates wells for further information about these issues.
